

Just Once! Try Dodson's Liver Tone! Take No Calomel! Listen To Me!

If bilious, constipated, headachy or sick, I guarantee relief without taking dangerous calomel which sickens and salivates.

Stop using calomel! It makes you sick. Don't lose a day's work. If you feel lazy, sluggish, bilious or constipated, listen to me!

Calomel is mercury or quicksilver, which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with your bile, crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated or you have headache, dizziness, coated tongue, if breath is bad or stomach sour, just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone for a few cents. Take a spoonful tonight, and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning, I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it can not salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep the entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to your children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste. —Adv.

All Smoking Tobaccos are Flavored

"Your Nose Knows"

The Encyclopaedia Britannica says about the manufacture of smoking tobacco, "... on the Continent and in America certain 'sauces' are employed ... the use of the 'sauces' is to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves."

Your smoke-enjoyment depends as much upon the Quality and kind of flavoring used as upon the Quality and aging of the tobacco.

Tuxedo tobacco uses the purest, most wholesome and delicious of all flavorings—chocolate! That flavoring, added to the finest of carefully aged and blended burley tobacco, produces Tuxedo—the perfect tobacco—

MAN BRANDED BY ORDER OF GERMAN

American Prisoner Is Disfigured in Almost Unbelievable Manner.

GHASTLY DESIGN ON HEAD

Former Circus Performer, Horribly Mutilated, Is Forced to Do Work of Oxen for Turkish Master—Made Harem Guard.

London.—Many have been the tales, exaggerated or without foundation, which have passed from mouth to mouth, and even found their way into print, of prisoners of war who have been sent home with faces disfigured by brands of the German eagle, snakes and other horrible objects. Many of these stories could not be traced by the authorities and were attributed to heated imaginations. A correspondent of Lloyd's Weekly, however, has discovered a very bad case of Hun savagery, which sufficiently testifies to this method of mutilation by branding or tattooing, being no exaggeration.

"The man's name is Roughton and he lives in a miserable slum near Waterloo, hating to go out in daylight. On his forehead was a disfigurement," says the writer, "that seems almost unbelievable in these days of so-called civilization."

"The man's head is covered with short stubby gray hair, and his naturally fine forehead gives plenty of room for a sinister sign that stretches from temple to temple and from the arch of each eyebrow to the edge of the scalp. It is a heavily tattooed design of a huge crablike creature which he afterward told me is called 'The Spider of Death' or the scorpion. Ghastly in Design.

"In some horrible frenzy of imagination this creature, which had been pricked with red, white and green inks upon his forehead, has been given three bodies. One lies over the other and each outline is clearly visible. It shows first the shield of Bulgaria, above that the military drum of Germany, and superimposed upon these, the fez, the star and the crescent of Turkey. On either side stretch eight human-boiled legs, while from the middle, or head of this horror, hangs a ring showing that the man branded thus is the property of the Turks for eternity.

"Yes, that is what I have to show for my share in the great war," said the branded man. "I have seen a lot in my life. I was born fifty-seven years ago in Chicago and I guess there are a good many men there yet who remember the name of Roughton, famous for feats of strength and physical endurance right through from Maine to California."

"My life has always been one of adventure. I have been a 'strong man' and an acrobat in circuses."

"When the war broke out in 1914, I joined up with a regiment of royal engineers that was being recruited in the States, and over I came to the fighting front."

"I was at Mons, and I got the ribbon right here," and he produced a little blurred ribbon. "But I never wear it. After I'd finished with the Second army in France I was moved to Salonika, and then to Mesopotamia, and that's where I got caught."

"It was while I was doing some work with barbed wire one night alone out under the stars in that 'blessed land' of Mesopotamia that I got done in. They got me, but it took a lot of them to do it."

"I was put to work, and I tried to escape, and I was caught and put through more torture, and then one day a Turk under the direction of a German officer, put this upon me," and the man smote his forehead with a terrible gesture.

Made Guard in Harem.

"By and by, over there in Turkey, my captors realized that my physical strength was beyond the ordinary and I was turned over to a pacha who bought my body for his service. I was put to work pulling a plow, and when I didn't cover enough ground, or the furrows that I made were crooked, I was beaten with a leather cat-o-nine-tails that had nails at the end of each thong."

"Then the great potentate for whom I worked seemed to realize that he was wasting good material in rough, unskilled labor, and after many weary punishments he placed me (with this badge of shame upon my brow and the price of 5,000 marks upon my head should I try to escape) as the guardian of his harem."

"Among the many women slaves in this place there was a young Arabian girl who had been stolen and sold to the man who was our master. She was unhappy to the verge of madness, and the horrors through which she went on many occasions nearly drove me out of my mind. By methods that are too long to tell you, this Arabian and myself plotted and planned together and succeeded in escaping. Finally we managed to get in touch with British troops."

FIBS TO GET IN ARMY

Now Old Man Has to Fight to Get Out.

Stretches Truth for Chance to Serve in the Army of Great Britain, Peace Discloses.

London.—Incidents of men stretching the truth considerably to get into the British army when England needed every man and then resorting virtually to mutiny to get out after the armistice was signed have been shown at Folkestone during investigation of the first demobilization demonstrations there. After several hundred men had declined to embark for France at the end of their Christmas leave the military authorities began investigating each case separately.

One man who might be judged anywhere from 38 to 50 years of age appeared before the examining officers. "On what ground do you think you should be released now?" he was asked.

"I'm more than 41 years of age," he said, relying upon the rule that men of that age or more should be released as soon as possible.

"But your army book shows you enlisted fifteen months ago at the age of 35."

"I gave that as my age to get in, sir. I am 50 years old now."

"You will have to prove that," came a quick reply, whereupon he turned to a middle-aged woman spectator, his wife, who had anticipated the situation and produced a birth certificate. He will be released at once and the method by which he volunteered will be conveniently forgotten.

During the last year of the war no miners were allowed to join the army. Their ranks already had been depleted until barely enough coal was being produced.

Another remonstrator claimed he should be released because he was a miner. His record showed he represented himself as a fishmonger in order to join the colors. When he proves he is a miner he will be released.

Raises Beans to Do Bit.

Greene, Ia.—Martin Pitz, eighty-six years old, determined to do his bit in the war, raised an acre and a half of beans, hoeing them and threshing them by using an old-fashioned flail. He raised 40 bushels of navy beans. His wife, who is nearly his age, assisted in the picking of the harvest.

"HUNS" ANGERS THE FOE

Court-Martial British Captive for Use of Name.

Sergeant Tells of Cruelties Inflicted Upon Him by Boche Captors.

London, England.—Because he referred to the Germans as "Huns," Sergt. E. A. Boyd, a British airman, who was captured, was sentenced by them to a year's imprisonment. He has now returned to England.

With a lieutenant, Boyd was patrolling off the Belgian coast in a seaplane. They were shot down by enemy destroyers, and while Boyd was in the water he wrote this message: "Shot down at 6:42 p. m. Being picked up by Huns." The pigeon to which he entrusted the message was unable to fly and fell into the hands of the Germans. The two airmen were taken to Bruges, where they were sent for by Admiral von Schroeder.

"He was frightfully angry over my message," Boyd relates, "and began to swear in broken English. The only thing we understood clearly was that on the following day one of us was to be shot. I had told him that I had written the message. Later I was court-martialed and the court held that by calling the Germans 'Huns' I had insulted the officers and men of the German destroyers, and I was sentenced to twelve months' imprisonment."

"For the first six months I was absolutely starved. I gave away my watch for a slice of bread."

Only One-Arm Hugs.

Tacoma, Wash.—Only one-arm hugging is allowed here now by the terms of an ordinance passed by the city council. The act provides that only one arm shall encircle a damsel's waist while dancing and that there shall be no undue familiarity. The ordinance says: "Partners shall keep their faces and bodies free from each other."

MOTHER SURPRISES U. S. MEN

She Is From Essen, Ex-Army Son Is in American Army in Germany.

Coblenz, Germany.—Mrs. Martha Greeff arrived here recently and presented credentials at army headquarters explaining that she wanted to see her son, and for this reason had made the journey from her home in Essen. American officers explained to her that the only German soldiers within the occupied zone were those on special duty in connection with the turning over to the American army property of the German army, and that Rolan Greeff's name did not appear on the list of these men.

"Apparently you misunderstood me," said Mrs. Greeff to an American who spoke German. "My son is in company B, 11th infantry, United States army, which will soon be stationed in the region of Treves."

Permission for Mrs. Greeff to visit her son will be granted by headquarters.

DAIRY

BETTER BREEDING HELPS

In dairying large production and profit go hand in hand. Breeding furnishes the most economical way to obtain large-producing cows. The purebred bull, with generations of high-producing ancestors back of him, must be used for breeding, and only the best heifers from the best cows should be chosen to be the dams of the next generation.

CERTAIN BULK IS NECESSARY

Table Gives Classification of Common Feeds as to Bulkiness—Palatability Important.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A certain bulk is necessary in the grain mixture given to the dairy cow to obtain the best results. When heavy feeds are used, some bulky ones should be included to lighten the mixture, since it is probable that a certain degree of bulkiness aids digestion. Some of the common feeds are classified as to bulk in the following table:

Raise the Dairy Calves, the Nation Needs Them.

Classification of Common Feeds as to Bulkiness.

Bulky.	Gluten feed
Alfalfa meal	Rye
Corn-and-cob meal	Barley
Straw (wheat)	Heavy or
Dried brewers' grains	Compact
Dried distillers' grains	Buckwheat middlings
Oats, ground	Cottonseed meal
Malt sprouts	Linseed meal
Dried beet pulp	Coconut meal
Medium	Peanut meal
Corn meal or feed	Gluten meal
Stomach	Wheat middlings

Palatability is of great importance in successful feeding. The best results can not be obtained with any feed which is not well relished by the cow; consequently any unpalatable feed should be used should be mixed with those that are appetizing.

In making the grain mixture care should be exercised that too large a quantity of either constipating or laxative feed is not included. Cottonseed meal, for example, is decidedly constipating and should be fed with laxative grains or succulents, such as silage or roots. For ordinary feeding in most parts of the United States not more than one-third of the grain should be cottonseed meal. In some sections larger quantities have been fed, but this practice is not recommended. On the other hand, linseed meal, because of its distinctly laxative action, should not be fed ordinarily in greater quantities than 1 1/2 pounds a day.

MAKE TEST OF YOUNG BULLS

Some of Best Breeders Loan Out Animals to Dairymen in Community to Try Them Out.

Some of the best breeders follow the practice of lending out a number of the young bulls to dairymen in the community merely for the purpose of trying them out. Of course, many of these bulls prove to be mediocre, but when a valuable one is found he is the property of the lender and will repay any expense involved in his discovery.

A sire that has proved his worth always is in demand and can be sold readily if the public knows of his whereabouts. The purchaser can be found by advertising.

FATAL WEAKNESS OF DAIRY

Use of Sires Whose Ability to Improve Production Is Unknown Cause of Trouble.

A fatal weakness in the dairy business is haphazard breeding, that is the use of sires whose ability to improve dairy production is unknown. Of course this cannot be known until some of his daughters come into production. And it cannot then be known with any degree of accuracy unless performance records are kept upon the cows and their daughters. Up to this time reliance has been placed upon the ancestry of a bull almost entirely, with the stress laid upon the act of registration.
